

GTEP

GLOBAL TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM

Our Global Teacher Education Program is a professional development program for educators. This intensive program provides participants the opportunity to learn about innovative teaching strategies and assessments used in U.S. schools, develop further their English language proficiency, and engage in experiential learning through classroom observations and school internships.

GTEP GLOBAL TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM

The University of Minnesota College of Education and Human Development (CEHD) is a world leader in discovering and creating practices of multiculturalism an multidisciplinary scholarship. It ranks 3rd nationally in research among all public colleges of education.

The University of Minnesota (UMN) is one of the top research universities in the United States. Located in a vibrant urban area in the banks of the Mississippi river, the University of Minnesota is the ideal place to experience American culture while engaging in a high quality professional development program. UMN has been involved with on-campus international professional development activities for decades. The Global Teacher Education Programs (GTEP) in the College of Education and Human Development has served over 250 educators. Participants attend seminars and workshops led by UMN faculty members and staff. The program also includes an internship experience in private and public schools in the Twin Cities area. During their school placements participants will be mentored by local teachers. Individuals 18 or older with strong interest in teaching, and intermediate to high level of English proficiency are ideal candidates for this program.

Join us for this unique experience, and reimagine teaching!

4 week winter (January) and summer (July) sessions available

$3,500 program fee includes:

- Department and program fees
- University-based housing
- Meals
- Transportation
- Cultural activities

For more information contact the Global Initiatives office cehdintl@umn.edu

CEHD
COLLEGE OF EDUCATION + HUMAN DEVELOPMENT
UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA