TEACHER EDUCATION REDESIGN INITIATIVE 2009-2014
University of Minnesota-Twin Cities

Invested in school-university liaisons

	CEHD Funded	District Funded	School Funded
Partnership or research liaisons in schools	1 ($14,500) 1 ($5,000)		1 ($14,500)
District liaisons in central office	1 ($50,000) 1 ($10,000)	1 $12,500
Induction liaisons in schools	5 ($52,000)

Liaison roles

- Provide onsite support for clusters of teacher candidates and their cooperating teachers
- Recruit and retain new teachers
- Model research-based practices to improve student learning

Success 1: Curriculum for Equity Minded Teachers of Diverse Learners

New Common Curriculum

- Cultures, Schools, and Communities
- Academic Language and English Learners
- Child and Adolescent Development for Teaching and Learning

New Common Assessments

- Case Studies of Learners
- Teacher Identity Self-Study
- Professional Rotations
- edTPA

	2009	2014
Average clinical hours /candidate	704	900
Total clinical hours all candidates	236,001	256,430

Success 2: TERI Partner Network

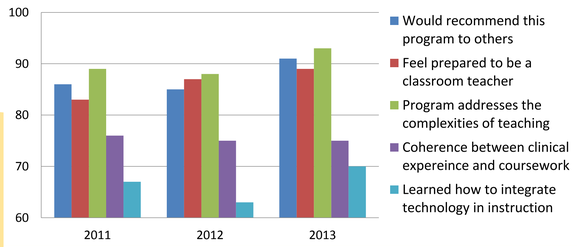

Taking teacher training seriously: A medical-style residency program at U of M

By Aileen Brown, TC Daily Planet
December 15, 2013

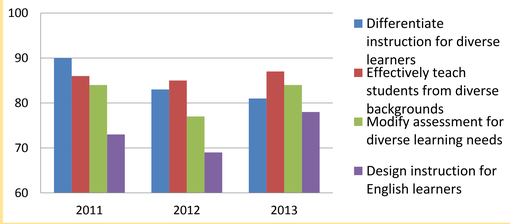

Having two teachers in the classroom allows Amina Ahmed to give individualized instruction to students.

Program Exit Survey Results 2011-13: Overall Program Quality

Transition to Teaching Survey Results 2011-13: Prepared to Teach Diverse Learners

StarTribune | local

News Local Sports Business Politics Opinion Lifestyle Entertainment Obitua

North Metro | West Metro | South Metro | East Metro | Minneapolis | St. Paul | Your Voices

Home > Local

Now, metro schools can 'grow their own' special ed teachers

Article by: KIM MCGUIRE , Star Tribune | Updated: May 5, 2014 - 6:38 AM

A first-of-its-kind University of Minnesota master's degree program promises to groom education assistants into special education teachers by training them on the job in the classrooms where they already work.

Success 3: Alternative Pathways to Licensure

Next Steps

TwinCities.com PIONEER PRESS

Weather: Saint Paul, MN

EDUCATION

News Sports Business Entertainment Lifestyle Obituaries Local News

HOT TOPICS: Como Lake body Wild lose Anoka RV body Comic Con Waseca teen's plot Molly Ka

Home Education Story

Print Email

U of M, Teach for America pitch atypical teacher training

By Mila Koumpilova
mkoumpilova@pioneerpress.com

POSTED: 04/11/2014 12:01:00 AM CDT | UPDATED: 23 DAYS AGO

The University of Minnesota and Teach for America pitched the state's first nontraditional teacher preparation program Friday.

Employment first year after licensure within cohort

2009	2010	2011	2012	2013
79%	81%	79%	86%	94%

Plan to teach more than 6 years within cohort

2009	2010	2011	2012	2013
88%	88%	89%	92%	94%

Areas for Improvement Based on Candidate Survey Feedback

- Differentiating for diverse learning needs
- Designing instruction for special education students
- Using community and home resources to foster student learning
- Responding appropriately to student misbehavior
- Enacting classroom management
- Assessing student learning

New Initiatives for 2014-20

- Dispositions assessment
- Additional non-traditional pathways to licensure
- Technology integration throughout teacher education program
- Teacher leadership development opportunities through hybrid roles between university and schools