Educational Psychology Program

Doctoral Thesis Credit Registration Request Form

Effective June 2012

Educational Psychology doctoral students may register for doctoral thesis credits (EPsy 8888) under the following conditions:

1. Doctoral students may register for up to 6 doctoral thesis credits prior to passing the oral prelim exam if
   a. the adviser determines the student is research ready,
   b. the degree plan is submitted and approved,
   c. the student completed 36 course credits that are included on the degree plan (masters courses may be included on the degree plan), and
   d. the student submitted the doctoral thesis credit registration request form (this form).

   Students will register for the remaining thesis credits after passing the oral prelim. Permission to enroll in thesis credits does not guarantee advancement to PhD candidacy. Preliminary examinations must be passed and thesis proposal must be approved in order to progress to PhD candidate status.

2. Students may register for thesis credits the semester after they pass their preliminary oral examination without special approval*. If a student passes the preliminary oral exam within the first two weeks of any semester, permission to register for dissertation credits for that term may be granted.*
