Timing

1. You have two weeks (more as needed) to respond and submit your written exam
2. Your advisor will notify you of the results within 3-4 weeks (typically)
3. Schedule your oral exam within 2 weeks of passing your written exam
4. Your adviser may let you schedule your written dissertation proposal meeting on the same day as your oral exam

Written Exam

The type of exam (paper, take home, timed, closed-book, etc.) varies. Contact your adviser.

Your faculty advisor and one other committee member will assess your exam. The rest of your committee receives your exam when you schedule the oral prelim.

Formative revision prior to grading is allowed. Final grading may result in Pass, Revisions Required, or Fail.

Oral Exam

The focus of the oral exam is generally on the written exam, but you may be asked about other areas in which you are expected to have expertise.

We also typically ask questions about how you are conceptualizing your dissertation study.
