COUNSELOR EDUCATION PROGRAM
MASTER'S PROGRAM HANDBOOK

GENERAL INFORMATION

Counselor Education (CE):

CE is a track of study within the Educational Psychology Department's graduate program. As part of the Educational Psychology department, CE students should also be aware of the Educational Psychology Department's student handbook which may be found on the department's web page.

The Mission of the CE program is as follows:

> Counselor Education (CE) prepares counselors to effectively serve diverse populations in dynamic mental health, school, and higher education counseling settings. Throughout the program, faculty emphasize community engagement, cultural humility, advocacy and leadership skills, data-driven decision making, and adaptation of evidence-based practices through teaching, research, and service. While adopting a scientist-practitioner lens and engaging in regular self-reflection, students in CE will integrate rigorous scholarship with clinical practice. Students will consider emerging community interests and diverse worldviews to contribute to academic, social, and emotional well-being for all citizens.

In addition to the CE core faculty, professors from other academic units and community partners are involved as program affiliates through teaching courses, mentoring students, and supervising practicums and internships. This is one of the ways that CE taps the outstanding resources of the University of Minnesota and the community.

The Master of Arts (M.A.) degree is a generalist program that emphasizes the practice of individual and group counseling and focuses on counseling skills, counseling theory, assessment, ethics, cultural humility, and career development. The M.A. program frequently leads to the following types of occupations: college counselors, school counselors, mental health agency counselors, career counselors, and counselors in employee assistance programs. To prepare students for these professional roles, the program emphasizes broad counseling and research skills. The M.A. program allows for specialization in school counseling, clinical mental health counseling, and college student development.

CE is a Plan B Master's program. This means a thesis is not required. The CE Plan B program substitutes additional coursework, a written comprehensive examination, and specific projects for the thesis.

Note: Students are bound by the requirements indicated in their program handbook from the fall semester in which they are first admitted to the CE program. However, in some situations, changes in curriculum and/or policy that occur after that time will also apply to them. Students will be notified in the event there are changes that affect their cohort. Please check with your adviser for further information. Updated handbooks will be posted on-line.

EXPECTATIONS REGARDING STUDENT SELF-DISCLOSURE WHILE ENROLLED IN CE

The practice of counseling requires significant self-disclosure and personal introspection for the person receiving counseling. Counseling students must become very familiar and comfortable working with the process of individual self-disclosure and introspection. Therefore, it is an essential training component of the CE program to provide assignments and classroom experiences that call for students (i.e., counselors-in-training) to self-disclose and personally introspect about personal life experiences to an extent not expected in their academic disciplines. As such, the CE faculty is committed to and expects an atmosphere of respect and confidentiality among our students.

These expectations are in accordance with the American Psychological Association's Ethical Principles of Psychologists and Code of Conduct whose comments regarding the ethics of requiring self-disclosure in an academic program are as follows: Psychologists do not require students or supervisees to disclose personal information in course- or program-related activities, either orally or in writing, regarding sexual history, history of abuse and neglect, psychological treatment, and relationships with parents, peers, and spouses or significant others except if (1) the program or training facility has clearly identified this requirement in its admissions and program materials or (2) the information is necessary to evaluate or obtain assistance for students whose personal problems could reasonably be judged to be preventing them from performing their training- or professionally-related activities in a competent manner or posing a threat to the students or others. (APA, 2002, 7.04).

Because (1) and (2) above apply to our program, we require self-disclosure in our academic program. In summary, we require that our students be willing to engage in self-examination (i.e., to disclose personal information in an academic context), and to learn to interact in an ethical and facilitative manner with individuals who are both culturally similar as well as different from themselves, in terms of both demographics and values.

* This statement has been adapted from the following other universities and/or Counseling Psychology Program statements: Auburn University, Miami University, University of Missouri-Columbia, and the University of North Dakota.

GRADUATE PLANNING AND AUDIT SYSTEM (GPAS), TRANSFER OF COURSEWORK, FORMS, EXAMINING COMMITTEES, AND FILING PETITIONS

Forms

For a list of the required forms and where to find them on-line, please see Appendix A or go to the CE website under CE Student Resources and Forms (https://www.cehd.umn.edu/edpsych/current/counselor-education/). In the online master's program handbook under "Appendix A: Forms," each link will take you to the website where the form may be found.

Transfer of Coursework/ Filing Petitions

With the approval of the adviser, and the Educational Psychology Director of Graduate Studies, students may transfer graduate coursework taken either at another institution or at the University of Minnesota prior to admission if approved by the program faculty and the Graduate School. Courses must be taken for graduate-level credit (after the award of the undergraduate degree), and appear on official graduate school transcripts. Courses that are officially transferred count toward both the coursework and credit requirements. A minimum of 20 credits must be earned while enrolled as a degree-seeking student in the CE Master's program and that have not been applied to any other degree. Please refer to the Graduate School Catalog for additional information on transfer-eligible credits. To request that previous courses be added to the Graduate planner, students must fill out a CE petition (see Filing CE Petitions section below and Appendix B). If a petition is approved, an official transcript must be on file from the institution with the Graduate School. School Counseling students must also request a transcript be sent to the CE office so it can be included in the licensure application.

Graduate Planning and Audit System Planner

Students must complete and submit the Graduate Planning & Audit System (GPAS) planner, an online resource of the University, for their Master's degree. On this webpage the student lists all coursework (completed and proposed) required for the Master's degree. This plan is then routed to the student's advisor and then to the Director of Graduate Studies. The GPAS is available online via the student My Portal page under the Academics tab on the Degree Progress sub-tab. The Student Guide to completing the GPAS Planner is available here:

https://onestop.umn.edu/academics/gpas

Students are to submit the GPAS at least one semester prior to completing their degree. Students will be notified by Graduate Student Services and Progress office (GSSP) via e-mail that the GPAS has been processed and they can now enter their committee.

Composition of Examining Committees

The CE program will assign an examining committee comprised of two CE faculty members and one non-CE faculty member. The student will then submit the names of his/her committee members on-line via the Graduate School's web page:

https://onestop.umn.edu/academics/examination-committees. The committee can only be entered after the student's degree plan is fully approved the student's GPAS.

Filing CE Petitions

In order to ensure that each student's degree plan has adequate breadth and depth, CE has specified a core of required courses. If a student has already taken related graduate coursework in any of the required areas and believes that a program requirement would constitute a duplication, the student may petition to substitute the previous graduate-level coursework into her/his GPAS plan; this coursework cannot be part of the student's undergraduate degree or taken as an undergraduate course.

Petitions may also be filed to request changes in program requirements other than course substitutions.

The procedure for petitioning a change for course requirements is as follows:

1) Fill out the CE Petition (Appendix B).
2) Meet with the professor who is teaching the course you wish to petition out of or transfer in to verify it is an acceptable substitute. Ask the professor to sign the petition.
3) The student will then meet with her/his adviser to determine if the adviser will permit the substitution. Ask the adviser to sign the petition.
4) Submit the signed petition to the DGS Assistant. The petition MUST have the signature of the professor and the adviser.
5) The transfer course will be entered by the DGS Assistant before the GPAS audit has been submitted.

It is the STUDENT'S responsibility to make sure that the petition form reaches the appropriate professor, the student's adviser, and the DGS Assistant.

The same process described above should be used if petitioning departmental requirements.

Changes to GPAS

If you need to make a change to an elective after your GPAS has been approved, please write the DGS assistant with the name of the course(s) you are changing and copy the adviser. This situation most often comes up with changes to the Learning and Cognition course requirement.

PRACTICUM FOR FIRST YEAR M.A. STUDENTS

Masters students are required to complete a practicum experience. There are two options which are outlined below. Students in the Clinical Mental Health and Higher Education emphases, use Option I. The practicum instructor will contact the site supervisor. The decision to terminate will be made by the student, the practicum instructor, the MA. Clinical Training Director in consultation with the site supervisor.

Obtaining Employment at Practicum Sites

To protect the focus on student training and development, students are generally discouraged from accepting offers of employment or changes in title during their practicum training. In such cases, students who wish to accept employment or title/role change must inform the practicum instructor and the M.A. Clinical Training Director, plus petition to do so. Responsibilities in the new role must not interfere with progress toward original learning goals, supervision structure or focus, or responsibilities in the training role. Accumulating Internship Hours Over Winter/Spring Breaks Internship Students who have either a) fallen behind in accumulating the required hours during fall semester or b) wish to accumulate hours during winter break to apply to spring semester may do with the understanding of the site supervisor that the university's internship instructor will not be available nor will class be held over the break. Students must have the Internship Consent form (Appendix F) signed by the Site Supervisor and turned into the MA Clinical Training Director by November 1st of the year in which they are completing their internship.

Internship students who wish to work after the last day of the university calendar; may also do so with having the site supervisor sign the Internship Consent form (Appendix F) with the same understanding: the Internship class will not be meeting; the Internship Supervisor will not be available. Forms are due by April 12, 2021.

Students may not accumulate internship hours over summer session prior to the start of their second year.

Please note that any internship work performed during University breaks (e.g. winter break, the last two weeks of May) are not covered under University of Minnesota liability policies. Please check with your internship site supervisor to see if your work is covered by liability policies at your site. You are responsible for obtaining your own liability insurance during these times, if you are not covered by policies at your individual site. The American Counseling Association offers low-cost liability plans to students. Please talk with your advisor or practicum supervisor for assistance.

Termination at an Internship Site

Students who wish to terminate at an internship site must inform the internship instructor and the M.A. Clinical Training Director, plus petition to do so. The internship instructor will contact the site supervisor. The decision to terminate will be made by the student, the internship instructor, the MA. Clinical Training Director in consultation with the site supervisor.

Obtaining Multiple Internship Sites

Students are generally discouraged from obtaining multiple internship placements (other than the three required for school counseling). In limited cases, obtaining multiple placements allows students to meet specific educational or career goals. In such cases, students who wish to obtain a second internship must inform the internship instructor, their primary internship supervisor, and the M.A. Clinical Training Director, plus petition to do so. Responsibilities at the second internship site must not interfere with progress toward original learning goals or responsibilities at the primary site. CE Faculty and the Clinical Training Director will make a final decision regarding support of students at a second internship site, and whether these secondary hours count toward program requirements.

Obtaining Employment at Internship Sites

To protect the focus on student training and development, students are generally discouraged from accepting offers of employment or changes in title during their internship training. In limited cases, obtaining such a change allows students to meet specific educational or career goals. In such cases, students who wish to accept employment or title/role change must inform the internship instructor and the M.A. Clinical Training Director, plus petition to do so. Responsibilities in the new role must not interfere with progress toward original learning goals, supervision structure or focus, or responsibilities in the training role. The decision to accept employment will be made by the student. CE Faculty and the Clinical Training Director will make a final decision regarding support of students' change in employment status, and whether these secondary hours count toward program requirements.

STATUS IN TRAINING FORM AND ANONYMOUS SURVEY

Midway through spring semester, each student will be sent a mandatory status in training (SIT) survey form (Appendix G) and an anonymous survey. The purpose of the SIT form is for students to reflect and report on their academic performance during the previous year.

The anonymous survey is an opportunity for students to report how they view the training they have received in the CE program.

Both surveys are asked to be submitted before the faculty conduct their final meeting on degree clearance.

M.A. COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

The Graduate School requires a final examination for Plan B candidates. In the CE program, this exam is a comprehensive written examination at the conclusion of the student's program. The exam is offered in the spring semester each year; typically, students complete this exam in their second year of MA study. The exam is typically scheduled from 9:00a.m.-1:00p.m. on a Saturday in April. Detailed information about the exam date, location, and logistics will be emailed to students a few weeks before the exam. Students intending to take the exam must sign up in the CE office prior to taking the exam. Students have the option of using a translation or standard dictionary. Calculators are neither necessary nor allowed. Exam questions may include content from any required CE courses/subject areas. The exam consists of 200 multiple choice questions that are likely to include, but may not be limited to, the following subject areas:

Counseling theory

Counseling practice, skills, and relationships

Human growth and development (including social and developmental psychology)

Ethics and professional issues

Group counseling

Counseling diverse populations

Diagnosis and psychological disorders

Appraisal, research, and program evaluation (including measurement and statistics)

Assessment (including measurement and statistics)

Career development

Child and adolescent development and counseling

Students who answer 70% of the items correctly will pass. Students failing the M.A. comprehensive examination are automatically allowed to retake the exam. Students who have failed the exam a second time must send a request to the Program Coordinator who will consult with the faculty whether or not the student may take the exam a third time.

DEGREE CLEARANCE

During the last semester of students' coursework in CE, students are advised to:

- Download the Graduation Packet at https://onestop.umn.edu/academics/graduation-checklist-grad-students.
- This packet contains instructions to initiate the Final Examination Report Form and to apply to graduate.

Final Examination Report Form

This form found in the graduation packet contains the names of the examining committee that CE had provided to students earlier in the semester. The form is emailed to the advisor when it is initiated.

At the final review of students meeting held in May, the examining committee will review the student's progress in the program and the grades for the MA Comprehensive exam. The advisor will submit the online Final Exam Report form with the committee's decision to GSSP. An email will be sent out to students with the exact date and time of the meeting.

COMMENCEMENT AND GRADUATION

Commencement Ceremony

The College of Human Development commencement ceremonies are held in early May. Attendance is encouraged but not required.

Please note: Participating in the commencement ceremony does not mean a student will have his/her degree awarded. In order for the confer date of graduation to be posted on the transcript and for the diploma to be mailed, the student must request a graduation packet and submit the forms found in the packet.

Application for Graduate Degree

All students must submit an Application for Degree online in My U before the M.A. degree can be awarded.

This must be done by the first working day of the intended month of graduation. There are no exceptions to this rule. It is the student's responsibility to submit this form before the deadline. Failure to do so will delay the official award date for the degree and may create employment and licensure complications. So to ensure a May completion date posted on your transcript; the Application for Degree must be submitted by May 1.

Please note: if a student wants a May confer date, do not submit the Application for Degree before April 2nd.

The graduation checklist for graduate students is available on One Stop that lists everything necessary for graduation, including the link to download the graduation packet and applying to graduate. The checklist is available at:

https://onestop.umn.edu/academics/graduation-checklist-grad-students

This page also includes important information regarding how student's names are printed on diplomas.

The Calendar for when to apply to graduate is available at:

https://onestop.umn.edu/month-you-intend-graduate-0

Please read this section carefully and contact the DGS Assistant if you have questions.

When and How a Degree is Formally Conferred

- The student can expect to find the record of the formal degree award on her/his transcript (viewable online via One Stop) by the middle to end of the month following the intended month of graduation. This means that students who have filed all paperwork for a May confer date can expect to see the degree listed on their transcripts by mid- to late June. The actual degree conferral date will be the last business day of the month of graduation.

The actual diploma will be mailed to the student, but this may take up to 4 to 6 weeks after the degree has been granted.

STUDENT PROGRESS AND RETENTION POLICY AND PROCEDURES

The student progress and retention policy and procedures are designed to help students know their rights and responsibilities and the avenues for addressing any conflict situations. This section outlines the standards for academic performance and professional conduct for students enrolled in the CE master's program. It also describes a policy for defining and addressing problematic performance. The procedure used by the program to evaluate student academic performance and progress, as well as the policy for readmitting students who have been dropped from the Graduate School/CE program are described next. Finally, a step-by-step guide to student grievance procedures is included.

Student Conduct Standards

Students are required to satisfy University standards for student conduct. The Student Conduct Code can be found as a link in the Student Conduct Code procedures: http://policy.umn.edu/education/studentconductcode-proc01. In addition, they must meet the following CE student conduct standards:

1) Adhere to the Board of Behavioral Health and Therapy, Professional Educator Licensing and Standards Board, American Counseling Association, and American School Counselor Association guidelines for ethical practices and professional conduct in all aspects of training (see Appendix J).

2) Adhere to all University policies requiring non-discriminatory treatment of others in academic and professional settings without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, gender, age, marital status, disability, public assistance status, veteran status, or sexual orientation. (All University Board of Regents Policies may be viewed at: http://regents.umn.edu/policies/index).

Performance Standards

Students are required to satisfy Department of Educational Psychology, Graduate School, and University standards for academic and professional performance (see the Educational Psychology Graduate Program Handbook (http://www.cehd.umn.edu/EdPsych/Current/ and Graduate Student Handbook (https://www.d.umn.edu/graduate-school/current-students/grad-student-handbook

In addition, students must meet the following CE minimum academic and professional standards:

1) Students must maintain a minimum GPA of 3.0

2) Students may not have more than two grades below a B- in the courses listed on student's GPAS.

3) Students may not have more than six credits of incompletes at any one time.

The faculty reserves the right to terminate any student who fails to meet these standards of progress.

Continuous Registration

The Graduate School requires continuous registration until completion during the academic school year. Failure to register will result in discontinuation. The Graduate School also requires students to successfully complete the master's degree within five years. Failure to register for one semester or failure to complete the master's degree within five years will result in students being dropped by the Graduate School. Whenever students have been dropped, they must reapply for admission.

Leave of Absence

It is rare that students in a two-year Master's program have a need to request a Leave of Absence. However, the University has a policy to address situations that may occur, CE students must speak with and have their advisor sign the official leave of absence request. It is the student's responsibility to turn the form into the DGS Assistant. The policy and form is found here: http://policy.umn.edu/education/gradstudentleave. Upon returning from leave; students must also file the return from leave form; also found at the previously mentioned link.

Special Accommodations

It is University and CE policy to provide, on a flexible and individualized basis, reasonable accommodations to students who have documented physical, sensory, learning, or psychiatric disabilities that may affect their ability to participate in and to meet program requirements. Students with disabilities are encouraged to contact their adviser to discuss their individual needs for accommodations. Accommodations relevant to meeting program requirements are determined through a consultative process with Disability Services, the student, the adviser, and other relevant members of the campus community. (Accommodations relevant to class requirements are determined through a consultative process with Disability Services, the student, the class instructor, and other relevant members of the campus community.) Students who suspect they may have a disability or who would like general disability information are encouraged to contact the Disability Resource Center: https://diversity.umn.edu/disability/;

180 McNamara Alumni Center; V/TTY: 612-626-1333).

Problematic Performance Policy

The University of Minnesota graduate program in CE recognizes its responsibility to provide education and training that will promote student attainment of the knowledge, skills and competencies necessary to function as a competent counseling professional. Attainment of knowledge, skills, and competencies is a developmental process that occurs over time and varies from student to student. Program faculty are committed to providing instruction, feedback, and mentoring to students in a constructive atmosphere that allows students to meet the goals of the program and develop as a professional.

The Problematic Performance Policy applies to rare situations in which a student experiences significant difficulties in attaining and/or in demonstrating the knowledge, skills, and/or competencies that will allow him or her to function as a competent counseling professional. This policy is intended to be used with students who are not adequately progressing through the developmental process of becoming a counselor.

Program faculty, including site supervisors, accept multiple responsibilities in their role of educating counseling professionals. These responsibilities extend not only to the students in the program but also to the profession at large and to the public.

- Adjunct faculty, program faculty, and site supervisors have a responsibility to teach and supervise students, which is typically done in the context of a collaborative relationship.
- These individuals also have a responsibility to protect the public from incompetent professionals and to maintain the accepted ethics and standards of the profession.
- Unfortunately, it is possible that some students are not capable of becoming competent professionals and therefore they will not be able to maintain the standards of the profession.
- In these cases, the program is obliged by the American Counseling Association and American School Counselor Association to take action to protect the public as well as the profession.

Definition of Problematic Performance

Generally, problematic performance for a counseling student can be defined as any combination of personal characteristics, emotional difficulties, life situations, and/or lack of competence (knowledge or skills) that interfere with a student's ability to function in a professional manner.

In determining whether a student is exhibiting problematic performance, criteria that are considered include:

- The problematic performance is not restricted to one area of professional functioning.
- The student has difficulty acknowledging, understanding and/or addressing the problematic performance when it is identified.
- The problematic performance is not merely a reflection of the normal progression in competency and skills that is expected throughout training or specific deficits in knowledge or skills that can be rectified by academic or didactic training.
- The quality of student performance is consistently negatively affected by the problematic performance.
- The student's behavior does not change as a function of feedback, remediation efforts, and/or time.

Examples of behaviors, which may be categorized as problematic performance, are listed next. Note that this list provides examples and is not intended to be definitive or all-inclusive. Examples of problematic performance behaviors may include:

- A violation of professional standards or ethical codes (e.g., ACA or ASCA ethical standards).
- Inability or unwillingness to acquire and demonstrate professional skills at an acceptable level of competency as judged by a site supervisor, a faculty/adjunct supervisor, the student's advisor, and instructors in the CE program.
- Serious deficits in the areas of knowledge and application of professional standards.
- Behaviors that can be reasonably predictive of poor future professional functioning, such as extensive tardiness, carelessness with curricular requirements, poor compliance with supervisory requirements, etc.
- Interpersonal behaviors and intrapersonal functioning that impair one's professional functioning, such as lack of attention to well-being, inability to exercise good judgment, poor interpersonal skills, and pervasive interpersonal problems.

Evaluation of Student Performance

The CE program faculty conducts an annual review of all students at the end of Fall and Spring semesters: the Assessment of Student Dispositions: CE Educational Human Development Form (Appendix I). Students who are exhibiting problematic performance will be notified in writing promptly following this review. All students receive written feedback at the end of Spring semester informing them as to their progress in the program.

It should be noted that faculty actions and decisions are not confined to the Fall and Spring reviews. Evaluation of student performance is an ongoing activity. It is the norm that site supervisors will contribute to the evaluation process in an ongoing and collaborative manner.

Program Response to Student Violations

If a CE faculty member has reason to believe that a student is in violation of any of the student conduct or performance standards or is exhibiting problematic performance, action will be taken by the CE program. Such action may include, but is not limited to, the following:

1) A CE faculty member will speak directly with the student and other involved parties, as appropriate.

In order to document faculty concerns regarding problematic student performance, the Assessment of Student Dispositions: CE Educational Human Development Form contained in Appendix I will be completed and placed in the student's file.

2) All CE core faculty will be informed of the concern(s). Written documentation of this process of informing all core faculty will be done and kept in confidential student files.

4) The chair of the Department of Educational Psychology, as well as other faculty/supervisor(s), will be informed of the violation(s), as appropriate.

5) The CE program faculty and other faculty/supervisor(s) will meet either to determine the steps necessary for the student to rectify the concern(s) or to terminate the student from the program. Termination will be recommended only in cases where there has been serious violation of program standards (e.g. major scholastic dishonesty, blatant violation of ethical principles, and disregard of values of the counseling profession). In all other cases, faculty may require, for example, additional coursework, repeating coursework, additional supervised practicums. Leave of absence, psychological evaluation, and/or counseling may also be suggested. The student will receive a written statement detailing the concern(s), the decision of the faculty/supervisors, and the steps necessary to rectify the concern(s).

6) In the event that a student is not terminated, the student and faculty/supervisors will meet to develop a written remediation plan. This plan will detail the concern(s), outline necessary steps for rectifying the concerns(s), and specify a timetable for their successful completion. Students' practicum supervisors may or may not be informed of or involved in creation of the remediation plan, depending on the student's circumstances.

7) Disagreements about the resolution of any issue can be handled through Student Conflict Resolution Center (612-624-7272, 254 Appleby Hall, sos@umn.edu, http://www.sos.umn.edu

8) See Student Grievance Process section below for more information

Student Grievance Process

It is the student's responsibility to be aware of Board of Regents Policies as they apply to students and student employees. For University grading policies see: http://policy.umn.edu/education/gradingtranscripts

If students have a grievance issue, the CE program recommends that they use the following resolution process which involves the student meeting with and attempting to resolve the issue with the faculty member. If the student has met with the faculty member and the problem has not been resolved, then the student can contact their advisor. If the problem is still not resolved, the student may contact the CE program coordinator, then the department chair. Students should be aware that there may be limits to confidentiality with any of their discussions with these personnel.

Students also may bypass this internal process and go directly to the University Student Conflict Resolution Center or Office for Conflict Resolution.

If a student does not choose to meet first with a faculty member, the student may also directly contact the Student Conflict Resolution Center (612-624-7272, 254 Appleby Hall, sos@umn.edu, http://www.sos.umn.edu) for advice and representation in areas of formal and informal University proceedings (for example, student conduct code issues, dorm incidents, employment problems, academic disputes, financial aid grievances, academic misconduct charges, student judicial issues). Students may also contact the Student Conflict Resolution Center for assistance and advice for any campus-based problem or complaint (for example, grade or instructional complaints, registration requirements, unfair treatment, financial aid or billing problems). The Student Conflict Resolution Center can help identify resources and options, find answers to questions, and arrange conferences or mediate disputes. Students should be aware that there are time limits for taking action in some cases.

If students believe they have experienced any form of discrimination or harassment, they can seek assistance and advice from the Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action at 612-624-9547, eoaa@umn.edu, 419 Morrill Hall, http://www.eoaffact.umn.edu.

LICENSING REQUIREMENTS IN MINNESOTA

Students completing a master's degree may be interested in pursuing licensure in one or more of the following licensure areas: School Counselor (K-12) Licensure, Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC), or Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor (LPCC).

Licensed School Counselor

Students planning to become a school counselor should consult with the School Counseling Director. For information regarding Minnesota K-12 Licensed School Counselor requirements, see the Minnesota Department of Education website:
https://www.revisor.mn.gov/rules/?id=8710 or call (651) 582-8691.

Licensed Professional Counselor and Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor

These licenses are the regulatory licenses for the counseling profession in Minnesota. Community Counselors in MN need to be licensed as a Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC) or a Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor (LPCC) before being able to practice as an independent counselor.

The LPCC license tier meets standards currently being required to be designated as a Mental Health practitioner. Mental health practitioners are eligible for Medicare payments, payments by federal and state agencies, and payments by most insurance companies. Some insurance companies also recognize the LPC.

The licensing board for the LPC and LPCC is the Minnesota Board of Behavioral Health and Therapy (BBHT) has FAQ and basic information about the LPC and LPCC: http://www.bbht.state.mn.us/.

LPC requirements:

1) 48 semester credits from an accredited counselor training program and a 700 hour practicum or field experience. CE is accredited for counselor training by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) and the BBHT.

2) Take and pass the National Counseling Exam (NCE) or an equivalent national examination as determined by the BBHT, such as the National Clinical Mental Health Counseling Examination (NCMHCE). See the NBCC website (http://www.nbcc.org/) for information about exams and study materials. Also, see the CE office specialist or Clinical Training Director to check out program study guides.

3) 2000 hours of post-graduation supervised counseling practice.

4) Obtain a position/job which includes counseling duties, and then:

a) Complete an application for the LPC from the BBHT, which includes a supervision plan. The plan must include the name of your supervisor for the 2000 hours (see the BBHT website for a list of approved supervisors). The supervision hours may be completed over a 2- or 4-year time span while on the job. (1 year working 40 hours per week, half time work for 2 years, or part time work for 4 years).

b) Accumulate credits or CEUs to 60 credits within the 2 to 4 year period to complete licensure requirements. Graduate credits earned prior to completion of the M.A. or prior to the application for license will be accepted, e.g. CE students with 48 or 50 credits at graduation need only to add enough credits to reach the 60 credits within the 2 - 4 years after application for the LPC.

c) Continuing Education Units (CEUs) or CECs are also accepted. One semester of graduate credit equals 15 CEUs, e.g. if a counselor has 59 credits, s/he could earn 15 CEUs to make up the one credit needed to reach 60.

d) Due to requirements for the LPCC, it is advisable to earn credits or CEUs in the areas of appraisal, diagnosis and treatment planning, evaluation, etc.

LPCC requirements:

This additional tier of the license includes and exceeds the requirements of the LPC. The LPC is not necessary prior to the LPCC, but is easily obtained while working toward the LPCC. LPCC licensure requires:

- 4000 supervised total hours of counseling (2000 in addition to the 2000 for the LPC)
- Pass the National Clinical Mental Health Counseling Exam (NCMHCE) or the NCE plus the Examination for Clinical Counselor Practice (ECCP).

NATIONAL EXAMINATION & CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

National Counseling Exam (NCE) and National Clinical Mental Health Counseling Exam (NCMHCE):

- For Minnesota exam dates, registration information, and exam costs see http://www.bbht.state.mn.us/ under 'Licensing' then 'Examination for Professional Counselors' or 'Examination for Professional Clinical Counselors' and the website for the National Board of Certified Counselors (NBCC) http://www.nbcc.org/
- These exams are typically offered 4 times per year in Minnesota (3 times in Minneapolis and 1 time in Duluth)
- Registration and payment is usually required 7 weeks prior to the exam
- Applicants must have a completed master's degree prior to taking either exam and must submit to NBCC an official transcript showing the date the master's degree was conferred
- M.A. students who complete all U of M forms and requirements to graduate in May can expect their official transcript to become available during the second half of June, which means they will be eligible to register for October (Duluth) or January (Minneapolis) exam dates
- Students attempting to register to take either exam on the July testing date following their May graduation will not have an official transcript proving receipt of their degree before the deadline for registration passes (typically May 30). Exceptions allowing such registration may be made by the testing authorities, however:
    - It is the student's responsibility to arrange any exception with NBCC and to request and acquire any additional documentation needed from the Graduate School
    - CE and the Graduate School cannot control whether or not such additional documentation is accepted by the testing authorities for registration purposes
- If a licensed LPC counselor has passed the NCE and then decides to become an LPCC, passing the Examination for Clinical Counselor Practice (ECCP) will be required. If a licensed LPC counselor has passed the NCMHCE, no additional exam is required.

Several national organizations provide opportunities for additional certification in various specializations in counseling and psychology. With a master's degree in CE, you may qualify to be a National Certified Counselor (NCC) or Certified Clinical Mental Health Counselor (CCMHC).

For information regarding National Certified Counselor (NCC) and Certified Clinical Mental Health Counselor (CCMHC) requirements, contact: the National Board for Certified Counselors, Inc., http://www.nbcc.org/ or 336-547-060

Appendix B : CE Petition: Course Transfer

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE STUDENT

To ensure adequate breadth and depth in students' programs, CE has outlined degree requirements, including a core of required courses. If a student has already taken graduate work in some of these required areas and feels that the program requirement would constitute a duplication, the student may petition to substitute his/her previous coursework into his/her program. The student may also petition changes in program requirements other than course substitutions.

It is the responsibility of the student to make sure that the petition form reaches the appropriate professor, the adviser, and the committee. The student should complete the petition form.

The procedure for petitioning a change in course requirements is as follows*:

1. First, meet with the professor who is teaching the course in question in order to ascertain if there would be duplication. Have him/her sign this form.

2. Next, the student will meet with her/his adviser to determine if s/he will permit the substitution. Have him/her sign this form.

3. Submit a petition to Lori Boucher, DGS Assistant.
